to worship, to teach, to serve."*

Souper Bowl of Caring

Please help tackle hunger in our community by making a monetary donation or donating canned goods. All donations go directly to The New Holland Area Food Bank. The youth of our congregation will be collecting money or canned items after the worship service on Sunday, February 2, 2020. Please plan to donate to this worthy cause.

Valentine's for Veterans

Trinity Lutheran Church will be collecting valentines and distributing them to the two local Veteran's Administration Facilities located in Coatesville and Lebanon, PA. These two facilities are "home" for over a thousand veterans. Will you please purchase several additional valentines in addition to your "normal" allotment? If possible, please include a note of appreciation. We do not know their names, but we do know their service to our country! Bring your valentines, addressed to "A Veteran" and place them in the big red box located in the Narthex by Sunday, February 9th. No stamps are needed. Help us fill this box full of valentines for our veterans. Thank you for your support in this ministry of Trinity's Outreach.

Council's Soup Sunday

The church council will be offering Soup Sunday on Sunday, February 16, after church. Please join us for lunch.

Camping

Within the next two months, families begin planning for summer vacations and children's camping choices. Trinity has a special permanent account to support and encourage our youth to attend Camp Kirchenwald or Camp Nawakwa, our Synod's Church Camps, to promote spiritual growth in their beautiful outdoor settings. Two years ago, our Camping Committee set aside the last Sunday in January designating it "Camping Sunday" to highlight the many and varied camping programs open to youth who have completed grade one through twelve. The goal is to offer families a limited portion of the cost so all children of the congregation may have this experience. Trinity is seeing more young children attending our Sunday School a Vacation Bible School. Church Camp is a third part of this important education/spiritual growth, and we want to be ready to include every child. Contributions may be made to the camping fund at any time of the year. Contributions may be made to the "Camping Fund" designating that on the bottom line of your church envelope. If you have any questions, please ask a committee member: Renee Hardy, Sharon Krock, Kim Walls, or Nancie Weaver. Thank you!

Adult Forum Discussion

In December 15, 2019 our Adult Forum welcomed Ivine, a woman who is in the process of seeking asylum in the United States. Her story is shocking, and needs to be told so we can assist others who are supporting her.

Ivine arrived in the US about a year ago. She told those assembled that she received a phone message while on a business trip that she should not return to her home as soldiers had arrived looking for her. She determined that she needed to leave her home country of Cameroon immediately with only what she had with her, which included her passport, the clothing she wore, and some money she had with her for her business. She traveled to Nigeria and then to Ghana where she secured a flight to Quito, Ecuador. The immigration officials in Ecuador told her she could not stay so she started an arduous trek that took her to Colombia, and then through Central America and Mexico to the US border at Tijuana, Mexico. She lost her passport, shoes, and other belongings to "bad boys" somewhere in Central America so she walked barefoot through several counties to our border. She was informed, at some point, that she should present herself at the border and request asylum so that she would follow US Immigration laws.

She was four months pregnant when she had to leave her country so she arrived here shortly before her daughter, Jeanette, was born. She is waiting for an asylum hearing that has yet to be scheduled.

Back in Cameroon, her husband and four surviving children are living in the bush with a number of other people. She described their living conditions as a tunnel with two exits in case they are discovered by the military. The soldiers who came looking for her killed her 12-year-old son.

The conflict in Cameroon is based on language, essentially. Cameroon is made up of French speakers, who are about 80% of the population, and English speakers, who are in the minority. The English speakers have felt that they receive fewer benefits from the government and have demonstrated against the Francophone (French speaking) majority. There has been talk of secession to create a new, English speaking country, Ambizonia. Please do some research on the conflict in Cameroon that has resulted in people leaving their home country in fear for their safety and on our immigration rules regarding asylum seekers.

Trinity Lutheran Church and the ELCA recognize that asylum seekers are in the US legally and are following our immigration laws. Asylum seekers may not work or accept help from any programs that receive government funds. They may, however, accept help from non-profit organizations and churches. Currently, Ivine is getting help from James Street Mennonite Church and Grace Lutheran Church in Lancaster as well as Milagro House where she is studying for a GED and Mom's House that provides free child-care for Jeanette. We will keep you informed of our efforts to support the two Lancaster churches that are already supporting this courageous woman.

Head Start at Trinity

Head Start of Eastern Lancaster County has been housed at the YMCA at New Holland since the program left Trinity a couple of years ago. As the Y is closing at the end of December, they needed a new home. Trinity offered our spaces that have been renovated for Early Childhood Programming, and after meetings and space discussions, in December, the Congregation Council approved a lease with CAP, the non-profit organization under which Head start operates.

When they moved to the Y, Head Start added a classroom program in addition to the home-based program that Trinity housed. The two programs are moving to Trinity with the first children arriving on January 7th. The home-based program assists parents in teaching their children to prepare them for Kindergarten. The classroom program will provide early literacy and school readiness skills to sixteen preschoolers Mondays through Fridays for about 6 ½ hours a day. Fellowship Hall will be available for large motor activities when it is not otherwise in use and the staff will walk the children down to the large field below the cemetery on nice days. Lunch and snacks will be brought to the church from Eastern Lancaster County School District.

The Classroom Program will use the large Kindergarten classroom and the staff will use the room across for the Kindergarten room for offices. Other areas in the hallway will be used on an as-needed basis. The lease calls for payments of $1,000.00 per month for the use of our spaces.

If you have questions about the Head Start program, please contact Jim Cox, who is acting as Trinity's liaison with Head Start and CAP.

Festival Choir is Back This Winter!

If you aren't ready for the commitment of the adult choir, please join the Festival choir. This time the Festival choir will be singing with the Handbell Choir. The Festival choir is a larger group that includes the adult choir plus other singers who want to sing at church just two or three times a year, with rehearsals on Sunday morning. The Festival choir will be singing on Sunday, February 16, with rehearsals after church on Sunday, February 9; on Wednesday, February 12 at 7:00 p.m.' and on Sunday, February 16, at 9:45 a.m.

I wanted to thank everyone for the prayers, cards, phone calls, and visits during my recovery from emergency hip surgery. It was a difficult time while I was hospitalized and in rehab, but all of you did make me feel loved by your constant texts, calls, cards, and visits. The members of Trinity are truly an amazing congregation. I am so happy to be a part of that family. Again, thank you everyone for thinking of me,
Love, Debbie Meinert

It's very clear to me that eating is not the only thing that Lutherans do well...they're also good at keeping secrets! What a memorable day November 24 will always be for me.

I honestly cannot believe 40 years have passed since I became your organist. I have been richly blessed to not only have the ability to play the organ, but to play for a congregation who appreciates my talents and efforts. I especially appreciate your staying to listen to my postludes.

Honestly, there have been Sunday mornings where it's a little difficult to "get out of bed;" but invariably, once the organ lid is closed at the end of the service, I feel renewed and glad I was able to fulfill my passion of playing the organ. My hope is that I am able to enhance the worship experience of each of you too.

Thank you for all the personal handwritten sentiments expressed in the book and notes. I enjoyed reading them, and will treasure them forever.

A special thanks to everyone who made my celebration possible and memorable for me.
Love and peace, Linda Binder

Sunday School News

Our Sunday School Class recently read, The Lord's Prayer, (In Other Words) by Penn Ketchum. The book opened with the original prayer written in its entirety. On subsequent pages, the prayer was written phrase by phrase with some examples of today's vernacular. Our class was challenged to compose our own interpretations of each phrase. Next we wrote the phrases on individual papers, added our words, and displayed them in the upstairs hall. Finally, using our words, we created our own version of The Lord's Prayer, (In Our Words). Alan Krock, Elise Krock, and Mary Rogan.

The Lords Prayer

Our Father who art in Heaven hallowed be thy name.

Thy kingdom come, thy will be done,
on earth as it is in Heaven.

Give us this day our daily bread and forgive us our trespasses,
as we forgive those who trespass against us.

Lead us not into temptation
but deliver us from evil.

For thine is the kingdom, the power and the glory, for ever and ever.

Amen

From the Pen of Linda Krick
Music Coordinator/Choir Director

Recently on a facebook posting, a lawyer presented the case of why we should have a choir during worship

. “As an attorney, I’m trained to prepare arguments and present evidence. Ladies and gentlemen of the jury, here are seven reasons a choir can be vital to your church. 1. Choirs are biblical. It’s easy to miss, but the Book of Psalms is filled with detailed notes to the music director explaining the style, the melody, and the occasion of a particular song. Old Testament worship was led by great numbers of trained singers and musicians. And the Psalms were the hymnal of the New Testament church. This is not to say that choirs are the only valid scriptural model for worship, but to dismiss choirs altogether as archaic and irrelevant means we risk forsaking a rich biblical tradition. 2. Choirs encourage excellence in worship. A choir rarely performs “off the cuff.” Rather, the director spends time and resources finding the perfect arrangement of the perfect song. Then, the director spends time rehearsing singers and musicians to perform the song with beauty and precision. Choir members learn the parts and hopefully transcend the notes on the page — allowing the song to speak to and through them to the congregation. Ideally, a “performance” piece inspires people to praise. Likewise, using the choir for congregational songs is a powerful prompt to worship: people clearly hear the melody and join their voices as one. A practiced choir encourages a sense of awe and reverence through their excellence and preparation. 3. Choirs celebrate the human voice. There is something extraordinary about hearing a group of practiced singers use their God-given instruments to worship their Creator. I remember the first time I ever heard a gospel mass choir. The summer before I went to college, I attended a community talent show at Woodrow Wilson High School in Portsmouth, Virginia. There were folk singers and rock bands and soloists. Then the choir took the stage. About ten seconds after they started singing, every hair on my head stood up. I had goose bumps on my goose bumps. The sheer intensity and emotion of those voices eclipsed any of the prior performances. We were on our feet, singing along — transformed from spectators into participants. Their rich, passionate voices touched something deep within us. And in doing so, they connected our hearts to our Father’s. 4. Choirs can inspire and lead worship. One of the arguments against using choirs in contemporary worship services is that it relegates congregants to the role of bystanders. As if we’re saying, “Let the professionals do the worshipping — you just sit here and enjoy it.” Instead — the argument continues — we ought to make congregational singing as simple and inviting as possible. So we do away with hymnals that have written harmony parts and simply project lyrics on the screen to be sung in unison. But this great “dumbing down” doesn’t necessarily encourage more participation. You don’t have to look far to find modern worship settings where people are “spectating” just as much as they might have done with a choir. The issue isn’t as much if a choir should be used; rather, it’s how a choir can be used to facilitate meaningful worship. Yes, it’s possible to make your choir (or worship band, for that matter) the center of attention. But that’s “worship malpractice” inasmuch as it misdirects your congregation away from the true object of worship, the Lord. But properly used, a choir (or worship band) can lead your congregation to worship in Spirit and in truth. 5. Choirs can be redemptive communities. We live in the age of the superstar worship leader and celebrity pastor. Choirs can be an antidote to this spiritual epidemic. A healthy choir affirms all its members — not just the high-profile ones. A choir can be a redemptive community where all the imperfect parts of the Body of Christ are cherished — especially when someone is going through a tough time. A choir is a place where you belong, where you are missed when you’re not there, and where you can contribute your modest talent so that the whole can be greater than the sum of its parts. Effective directors treat their choirs as “a ministry within a ministry.” They take time to share devotional thoughts, prayer requests, and pot-luck dinners. Like the fabled bar in the TV show Cheers, their choir is a place “where everyone knows your name.” This is especially important in larger churches, where it’s easy to remain anonymous, or worse, overlooked. 6. Choirs make us work together. Similarly, the American archetype is that of uncompromised individualism. We resist being woven into the fabric of a community — especially one where we must constantly subjugate ourselves to a leader and submit our talents to one another. Choirs can help cure the disease of self-centeredness. To succeed, we must yield ourselves to one another. We must listen to each other. We must follow the leader’s direction. Looking away for even a moment can be embarrassing. Straying from the notes can be disastrous. Choirs teach us mutuality and submission within the context of an endeavor greater than ourselves. 7. Choirs can encourage musical diversity. Most “choir folks” are more musically diverse than you’d think. They appreciate lots of different styles of music because — somewhere along the way—they had a choir director who made them sing a hymn in German or an early American folksong or an a cappella arrangement of a pop song from the radio. Yes, choir nerds can be a little snooty, but I’ll bet they’re fans of music from several centuries and not just a certain decade. In contrast, most of the top modern worship songs on CCLI’s chart were written in the past 20 years. I’ll go out on a limb and say that folks who sing in choirs are often more musically eclectic than those who lead worship bands. If we’re going to move beyond the “worship wars” of the past few decades and embrace the “Both/And of Worship,” we’re going to have to stop pandering to the mind-numbing sameness of music made by and for people just like us. The Church is bigger than one style, and making a choir part of your worship experience can help your congregation resist the temptation of homogeneity. And in closing... And so, ladies and gentlemen of the jury, I close by appealing to the witness of Scripture, to the majestic power of disciplined voices in song, to the spiritual benefit of being part of a redemptive community, and to the richness that comes from diversity in worship. I ask that you render a verdict in favor of the importance of church choir program in your local church. Support your choir director — or recruit one if you don’t have one. Set aside funds to build a library of great music. Celebrate your choir every time they sing. I rest my case.

Help For Our Veterans

Let's show our appreciation to the Veterans for the courage and many sacrifices they made to keep us safe and free. Please remember that the complimentary shampoos, body creams, soaps, etc. from hotels, inns, resorts, etc. are greatly appreciated. Please place these items in the Veterans box in the Narthex. For many Veterans, their battles are far from over. Stricken with health problems and knowing that they are not forgotten makes a big difference. This is a small way for us to make a difference in their lives. We thank you for your support of this ongoing outreach project.

There is also a box under the Veterans table to collect GOOD CLEAN MEN'S suits, jackets, trousers, shirts, sweaters, hats and belts. Please remember the men and women who fought for the freedom of speech, freedom of worship and freedom from want and fear. This was their hope and goal for mankind. PLEASE NOTE: NO WOMEN'S CLOTHING UNTIL FURTHER NOTICE.

Parents Day Out

Trinity held our 3rd annual Parents Day Out on Saturday, December 14th. We had 24 kids attend, from 2 to 6 years old, and six additional youth helpers. We had a fun-filled day of crafts, games, food, and a movie. The kids made gifts for shut-ins and several Christmas crafts. A special thanks to those who volunteered their time, craft materials, and food: Jim Cox, Trish Cox, Martha Cressman, Karen Freimuth, Janet Graupensberger, Rod Hartman, Vicki Hartman, Patricia Heisse, Doris Hunsberger, Ben Nguyen, Stephanie Smith, Nancy Wilt, and Wendy Yost. Also, thanks to Alan Krock, Elise Krock, and Mary Rogan for helping the younger children with crafts.

All of our young parents in the congregation (and some of their friends) appreciated Parents Day Out, at this hectic time of the year, to do some shopping, run errands, or just to relax. Many of the parents mentioned their appreciation for this ministry Trinity provides. Unfortunately, we cannot offer this program in 2020 without more volunteers. Please consider helping us on Saturday, December 12, 2020 from 11:00 am until 3:00 pm. We need volunteers to help with crafts, food preparation and serving, games, and general babysitting duties. Please see Trish Cox or Vicki Hartman if you would like to help. This is a great opportunity to spend time getting to know the wonderful kids in our congregation!

Mutual Ministry Committee

A new Mutual Ministry Committee has been formed and met for the first time on December 2, 2019. The committee is composed of Jim Cox, Ron Harris, Rod Hartman, Catherine Huegel, JB Martin, and Nancie Weaver. We will meet monthly for a couple of months and then decide how often we need to hold a meeting.

The Mutual Ministry Committee recognizes that the ministry of the church is a function of the laity and the pastor. The Lower Susquehanna Synod Mutual Ministry Handbook suggests that the committee should track the congregation's goals for ministry and work to ensure that they are accomplished. It is not, necessarily, a complaint committee but can facilitate discussions concerning disagreements among members or between members and staff.

If you have any issues that you think the Mutual Ministry Committee needs to discuss, please talk to a member of the committee.
